IN 25, 50 AND 100 LB. KEGS. FOR SALE BY H. L. PITTOCK, 5 Washington St.

A Touching Incident.

[From the New York Times.]

During the past year a little boy about five years old entered the Phelps Industrial School, No. 235 East Fifty-fifth street. He was a beautiful looking child, with large gray eyes, brown hair, ruby cheeks, and very full, regular features. He attracted unusual attention. Visitors as well as teachers admired him, and even the very roughest of his playmates were kind to him. The teacher taught him a piece to recite, which caused great laughter on account of the bright, active manner he had delivering it. A gentleman visited the school, when the lad was called upon to recite his piece. After he had finished, the gentleman placed his hand on his shoulder and said: "Well done, my boy, here is five cents for you." The teacher noticed an unusual expression of joy in the child's face, but duty calling her attention in various directions, it soon passed from her mind for a while. The boy was regular in his attendance at school, but soon there came a change in the child; day by day he grew paler and paler, and his step less elastic and buoyant. When he was asked if he was sick, his answer was always the same: "No, not sick, but tired." He was noticed daily to take his bread home (he lived with his grandmother); no question was asked why he did so. Many very pale and sickly children are in these schools. Thus, day after day and week after week passed, until one day he came in looking so thin and pale that the teacher asked him to go home and rest, that he might feel better to-morrow. Tears came to his eyes and he said: "I want to stay in school." The teacher not knowing that he was starving for his bread, allowed him to remain. At noon his grandmother came to him, saying that he had not eaten a morsel of food that day (not stating that she had none in the house). He took his bread and left. He was soon attacked with hemorrhage of the lungs, and in his weakened state could not throw it off. He grew worse that night, and in a half dreaming state would call out, Grandma? oh, grandma! what will you do for bread when I die?" During his illness the teacher called and learned from his grandmother that daily had the child provided his bread with her, and many a day this was all they had to eat. While the tears were flowing profusely, she said, "I shall never forget the day that the gentleman gave him five cents for reciting his piece. He came in so delighted (with his usual allowance of bread,) and said: "Look here, grandma; here is so much bread, and here is five cents that a gentleman gave me for speaking my piece. Now we have all the bread we want to-day." He then went out and bought some rolls with his money. When he was near his end, speaking aloud, he clasped his little hands and whispered the Lord's prayer, though to him the "daily bread" had not come, and departed whither no hunger or pain shall come. He was buried by the ladies of the school.

Le Dernier Cri. De M. Victor Hugo.

The following is from Punch. It "takes off" Victor Hugo, and somewhat resembles the style of the old Greek tragic poets when turned into English:

They are gone, those Germans! Or they are going, for their hoofs yet cling to the sacred soil of holy France, and their unclean hands are still held out to clutch at her art-treasures. Fools, we might have mourned the loss of pictures and statues, but we should have had the consolation of feeling that they had gone to civilize a barbarous race, to teach Germany lessons in morality and humanity. Their dull eyes saw nothing, their base hands clutched nothing. They have taken from us neither statue nor picture, though the glories of France are in their power, the low, the miserable Tutons! Not so with holy France, when she swept Europe of treasures that were fit only to be shrined over the altar of her divinity; treasures, alas, wrenched from her by the cold fiat of the English Lords, who prated of their pedantic justice and restitution, and gave back the pearls to the swine. No, Germany might half have atoned for her wrongs to the great nurse of piety, charity, morality, and light, by letting us see her take our art-treasures and resolve to worship them as we have done. We should have cherished the philanthropic hope that one day she might become a for paler star than France, no doubt, for there is but one sun, and one France, but a planet whose rays, caught from it, might have spread around mild effulgence. They dared not grasp at what lay before them, and they return, for the moment, brutally victorious but morally abased, and when we have used the sword upon them, and brought them to the attitude of learners, we shall have to begin their education anew. I spit at, I spurn the Tutons, that they dared not seize the torches of love and light, the art-glories of holy France.

How New Jersey Got Out of the United States.

[From the Newark Courier.]

The origin of the allusion to New Jersey as a foreign country is said to be as follows: After the downfall of the first Napoleon, his brother Joseph, who had been King of Spain, and his nephew, Prince Murat, son of the King of Italy, sought refuge in this country and brought much wealth with them. Joseph Bonaparte wished to build a palatial residence here, but did not desire to become a citizen, as he hoped to return to Europe. To enable him as an alien to hold real estate required a special act of the legislature. He tried to get one passed for his benefit in several states, but failed. He was much chagrined, especially because Pennsylvania refused. After this he applied to the New Jersey legislature, which body granted both him and Murat the privilege of purchasing land. They bought a tract at Bordentown, and built magnificent dwellings, and fitted them up in the most costly manner. Rare paintings, statuary, &c., were profuse, and selected with care, and the grounds laid out with exquisite taste. Joseph Bonaparte's residence was, perhaps, the finest in America. Thousands of people visited it from all parts of the country, and were treated courteously. He was profuse with his money, and gave a great impetus to business in the little town. The Philadelphians, finding that he had apparently no end of money, and that he used it to benefit business generally, regretted, when it was too late, that they had refused to let him locate among themselves and, to keep up their mortification, would always taunt Jerseymen with having a king—with importing the King of Spain to rule over them; they were called Spaniards and foreigners on this account. But these taunts harmed no one, as the Jerseymen lost nothing by their alluring him to settle among them, and the term "foreigner," jokingly applied to Jerseymen, has come down to us long after its origin has been forgotten, except by a few men of the past generation. Many years ago—during the reign of Louis Philippe, we believe—both Bonaparte and Murat found they could safely return to Europe, so they sold out and returned.

The Jacksonville (Ala.) Republican says there is a lady living at Columbiana, Shelby county, who gave birth to a child a few days ago, at the age of 73 years. She is the mother of several children, the youngest of which, before this one, is 32 years old, and the mother of several children also. The old lady was doing well at last accounts.

FOREIGN NOTES.

Germany, under the new military organization, will be enabled, in case of war, to put in the field, within five days, an army of 1,300,000 men.

George Sand has purchased all the copies of her book against Alfred de Musset, her first love, that could be found in France and has destroyed them.

The Bey of Tunis recently paid to the Sultan of Turkey four million five hundred thousand dollars in order to secure to his descendants the hereditary right to rule over Tunis.

The Ministers composing the present French Cabinet are worth, between them, twenty-five million francs. These men, evidently, can have little sympathy with the Commune.

The libel suit instituted by Count Benedetti some time ago against Louisa Mulbach, the novelist, has been withdrawn—the latter having proved that the history of his wife in her work on Egypt was written in good faith.

Madame Michalet denies the reports of the illness of her husband, and declares that he will soon issue a work on the history of the Nineteenth Century, treating of the career of the first Napoleon, and a sequel to his "History of the Revolution."

A curious circumstance is recorded as connected with the request made by the Emperor of Austria to Count von Beust to resign his office as Premier of the Empire. The Count was so surprised when the proposition was made that he came near fainting. The Emperor had to ring the bell for a glass of water and the two could not continue the conversation for several minutes afterwards.

An Austrian savant, Dr. Vcelk, of Vienna, who is stated to be better acquainted with Persian affairs than any other man in Europe, predicts that the result of the famine in Persia will be very serious next season for Europe and America. He says that the cholera will, in January, penetrate with redoubled virulence through the Caucasian countries into Russia, and spread thence all over the west and south of Europe, and so finally reach America.

A Mr. James Phillipe, of Bedford Row, London, has made a startling announcement through the English papers, which must carry consternation into hundreds of aristocratic families. What Colenso has done to the Pentateuch, Mr. Phillipe has done to the companion volume, the British Peerage. He has discovered that "nearly the whole of the pedigrees heretofore published are fictions," and the genealogical MSS. in the British Museum "simply trash;" while "as for the Heralds' College having any right to grant coats of arms, it is so absurd that it is wonderful that any persons should be such addle-headed donkeys as to entertain any such humbug."

Discounting One's Skin.

We find the following in a New York paper. It is worth reading:

After hearing a most Munchausen-like story about a man who was blown into minute fragments, Charles Lamb thought it was a pity the man could not have been collected and preserved, "he would have been such an ornament to society." What that "collected" man would have looked like is possibly manifest in a mutilated mariner now on occasional exhibition in London, who is ingeniously and elaborately tattooed from head to foot. The story runs that this sailor is one of three similarly ornamented and ornamental individuals who alone escaped after this tattooing, which was done by the Chinese with poisons so coloring, calculated to produce a slow but terrible death. The question naturally arises, why, when the death of the sailors was the main object, such extraordinary efforts should have been made to convert them into elaborate works of art? and it will be new to most readers to learn that the Chinese are given to tattooing for any purpose. But the surviving sailor is said to have shown himself to the Directors of the British Museum and to have sold his skin, to be taken off when he has no further use for it, to that institution for the delight and instruction of the youth of England. Meanwhile, with the privilege, probably, of privately exhibiting his hide, for a consideration, not for commiseration, the sailor enjoys the annuity granted by the Museum in return for the skin to be delivered by-and-by. This, as a financial transaction, beats the closest shaving, and this literal discounting of one's own skin is ahead even of the two per cent. or more a month interest which is metaphorically said to "make the hide off a man."

National Banks.

The Statesman has the following remarks on the Herald's recent articles on National Banks:

Its pretence that the National Banks have great per centage in their favor and are bleeding both the Government and the people sounds forcible, but we will put it to the most ordinary test and see if it will bear it.

Ladd & Tilton of Portland and Ladd & Bush of Salem are in the banking business. They carry it on to make money and they are not the sort of men to forego any great advantage, especially when it has the express sanction of law. They have not taken advantage of the National Banking law, though they could undoubtedly have done so if they had wished, and they would certainly have wished it if they could have seen money in it more than to do business without it. When the Herald explains this backwardness on their part to do business under the law we may think its arguments worth answering, and that some necessity exists to defend the law.

In the mean time we call attention to the fact that with all its imperfections the present banking system is greatly superior and more safe than any which the country has ever known. The notes are absolutely good with the guarantee of the Government for the value. The necessity for a general banking law is well understood, and here is one which assists the financial workings of the Government, gives home demands for hundreds of millions of national bonds, and insures to the people a sound currency.

A retired governess says: "I am one of those whose lot in life has been to go out into an unfriendly world at an early age; and of nearly twenty families in which I made my home in the course of thirty years, there were only three that could be designated as happy families. The source of trouble was not so much the lack of love as the lack of care to manifest it." The closing words of this sentence give us the fruitful source of family alienation, of heartaches innumerable, of sad faces and gloomy home circles.

"The strongest propensity in a woman's nature," says a careful student of the sex, "is to want to know what is going on and the next is to boss the job."

Waldo; Secretary, Walter Jackson; Treasurer, W. S. Ladd; Agent, Joseph Hoyt; Directors, John F. Miller, D. Waldo, Jos. Hoyt, and Walter Jackson.

The public schools of Salem, says the Statesman, "are at present in a prosperous condition, more so perhaps than ever before; in point of numbers this is certainly true, and as we hear flattering statements construing the present management of them, we are led to conclude that they are doing a good work. The various ladies and gentlemen holding positions as teachers are highly competent, and their labors arduous as they may be, are satisfactory to all parties interested."

The Committee of Arrangements appointed at the last State Temperance Convention, have issued a circular to the people of Oregon, urging all temperance societies, churches, schools and communities also, to elect at least one delegate for twenty members, to hold seats in the Convention to be held in Salem, February 22d, 1872. The temperance element of the State seems to be unusually active, and from present indications a reform in this direction may be expected soon. Quite a number of organizations have already elected their delegates.

Farm Homes.

In the following admirable article the New York Tribune presents considerations which are worthy of special attention in our own State:

The isolation of families, occasioned by the sparse settlement of farming districts, has been not only a personal hardship, but a bar to material progress. Dull and hopeless monotony has driven many a bright boy from the farm-home, and deprived Agriculture of much-needed intelligence; but more unfortunate still has been that inertia and torpidity engendered by solitude, rendering the mind inimical to all reform, however advantageous. Often beyond the reach of his nearest neighbor, visiting the village but once a week, the farmer has been secluded from communion with his kind; and, thus cut off from the current of progress, his life's business was left for generations among the most backward of industries, his children growing up

The Daily Oregonian.

FRIDAY MORNING, JANUARY 12, 1872.

Expensive Ornaments.

Our existing police law was imposed upon this city against the wishes of its citizens. Its advocates claimed that it embraced the best results of modern experience in preserving the peace and in preventing crime and detecting criminals.

The expenditures for the police force are assessed upon the tax payers without their consent, and the cost has gone up enormously beyond that of the old system, which, it was asserted, was too heavy a burden for the taxpayers to bear. And what is being done by the present police to protect property and ferret out criminals? Its inefficiency is notorious. More robberies and burglaries have occurred during the last fortnight than were ever known in the history of the city for any like period, and no burglar or thief has been detected.

No restraints upon criminals are more effective than the fear of detection and the certainty of punishment. On the other hand, crime is encouraged when no vigorous effort is put forth to prevent it, and the criminal is emboldened when he is not tracked to his lair and dragged forth to justice.

Crime flourishes in our city. The police are itself; also draws its pay. Also attitudinizes on street corners and stares at pretty women. Also toasts its shins o' nights at saloon fires, keeps its coat dry and its throat wet thereat. A police uniform is an expensive decoration. But Portland is rich.

Notoriously the "metropolitan police" was originated as a political engine. Portland was giving large Republican majorities, and it was deemed necessary to set up a machine to help the Democracy here. This costs Portland taxpayers a great deal of money and gives them no security for their property. Good enough for them, perhaps, for voting Republican so persistently. But, while the present police force continues to display itself where its room would be better than its company, let citizens put extra fastenings on their doors and organize a night patrol.

Swamp Land Practice.

A little game has been played in connection with swamp lands which well illustrates the unscrupulous management of this whole swamp land business. Application for a considerable tract of swamp land was made some little ago by several persons in this city who are mostly Republicans. This tract is unmistakably of swampy character, and any person had a right to apply for it under the law. In this case there was no adverse applicant, and the parties applying to purchase the land received a certificate thereof from the Commissioners. This took place a good while ago. Recent articles in the OREGONIAN criticising the swamp land law and the management under it have exasperated the powers that be, and they now declare (we quote their own elegant language) that "since Republicans have made a fuss about it no d—d Republican shall have a spoot full;"—and accordingly the parties above alluded to have been notified that their application is contested. The contestant whom the Board has provided is of course a Democrat, and of course also it is intended to let him have the land, though a contest was never thought of till a few days ago. The contest is simply put up by the ring. We are not whining because Republicans are not permitted to purchase swamp lands, but we mention this circumstance to show the utterly corrupt and viciously partisan management of this whole business. If the gulled jade of Democracy is wincing already, it will find its withers terribly wrung before we get through exposing the iniquitous of its legislation and the practices of its spoilsmen.

The Democratic Gun Bursts.

The Herald publishes this, under the caption, "More of the Same Sort:"

The Radical State officials of Indiana, copying after their exemplars at Washington, have been indulging in a little stealing, the better to increase their profits "under Radical rule." Somehow they failed to hide as successfully as their Washington contemporaries; so it has leaked out that the late State Auditor, the State Treasurer, and the State Printer have, among them, stolen from the State upwards of one hundred and seventy thousand dollars. When the discovery was made, the evidence was so overwhelming that disguise was impossible, and the Governor of the State was compelled to institute suits against the delinquents.

It so happens that it was not the late State officials of Indiana who were guilty of this little operation, but the present State officials, every one of whom with the exception of the Governor, is a Democrat. The State Printer, alarmed by the disclosure of his frauds and the course taken by the Governor to bring him and his confederates to punishment, has recently disgorged part of the booty. This example would be a good one for another State Printer we have in mind, whose charges for printing are reported to be unconscionable. Now if the Herald, with this Indiana case before it, would only moralize a little more on the "rascalities of Radical rule," perhaps the country would be saved. Meantime, however, to be accurate, just let it put the Indiana frauds on the same side of the ledger with the frauds in New York.

It is stated by the Roseburg Plaindealer that Mr. Mosher, who was "elected" to a seat in the State Senate at its last session,—said election having been made by that body,—intends to hold over for the next two years. Under no color of legality can his term continue longer than the term of Mr. Herman (who was elected to make room for Mosher) would have continued; that is, till September, 1872. The most that can be claimed for Mosher is that he was elected to fill an unexpired term. The class of Senators to which he belongs goes out in 1872. We are aware that the Democracy intend to stick at no villainy in their endeavor to elect the next United States Senator. Any means tending to the accomplishment of that result, no matter how foul, will be employed. We shall be mistaken if Republicans do not find means to counterwork these unscrupulous plans.

At Sacramento the Central Pacific Railroad Company have a hospital which cost them $64,000. All the employes of the company who fall sick or receive injuries may go to this hospital. It is capable of accommodating about 120 patients. The expense of maintaining it is nearly covered by the hospital tax of fifty cents a month, which is paid by all white employes. We believe a similar regulation is in force on the Oregon railroads. A hospital is maintained in good style at East Portland.

While our Police Commissioners,—or rather Grover's Police Commissioners,—are quarrelling over the spoils and wrangling about how much pay each shall receive for his share, thieves break through and steal all over the city. But as this institution was set up for "the party," of course it is all right.

Bowen's Political Economy

Not long since Prof. Francis Bowen, who occupies the Chair of Moral Philosophy and Civil Polity in Harvard College, issued a book entitled "American Political Economy," which is worthy of special commendation. The false boast of free-traders that the instructed teachers of economic science are all on their side derives color from the fact that they are always puffing and pushing the works of their own doctors, while they studiously disparage or ignore those which controvert their views. But Prof. Bowen is an authority whom they cannot treat with contempt. In summing up the advantages of a protective policy for our country he says the question between protection and free trade is for us a question between progress in civilization and the arts, or a gradual return to that very imperfect stage of civilization which exists in all countries where the population are almost exclusively devoted to agriculture. The following somewhat long extract illustrates this position:

> The best legislative policy is that which will most effectually develop all the natural advantages of a country, whether mental or material. It is as wasteful, to say the least, to allow mechanical skill and inventive genius to remain unemployed, as it would be to permit water power to run without turning mills, or mineral wealth to continue in the ore, or forests to wave where cotton and grain might grow luxuriantly. If the rude labor of husbandry is to form the principal employment of the people, the higher remuneration of skilled labor in the arts must be sacrificed; and this would be as bad economy as to turn our richest soils into sheep pastures, or to feed cattle upon the finest wheat. The dispersion of the inhabitants over vast tracts of territory, in the isolated pursuits of agriculture, the great majority of them being doomed to work which would not tax the mental resources of a Feejee Islander, must be fatal not only to the growth of wealth, but to many of the higher interests of humanity. The hardships and privations of a life in the backwoods are a fearful drawback upon that bounty which confers, as a free gift, a homestead farm with a soil that reproduces the seed a hundred fold. To give full scope to all the varieties of taste, genius and temperament; to foster inventive talent; to afford adequate encouragement to all the arts, whether mechanical or those which are usually distinguished as the fine arts; to concentrate the people, or to bring as large a portion of them as possible within the sphere of the humanizing influences, and larger means of mental culture and social improvement, which can be found only in cities and large towns—these are objects which deserve at least as much attention as the inquiry where we can purchase calicoes cheapest, or how great pecuniary sacrifice must be made before we can manufacture railroad iron for ourselves.

Take this further example:

> I see not how these ends can be obtained in a country like ours, which is, so to speak, cursed with great advantages for agriculture, emigration, and the segregation of the people from each other, without throwing over our manufacturing industry, at least for half a century longer, the broad shield of an effective protecting tariff. When we have enjoyed, as England has already enjoyed, the benefit of a strict protective policy for the purpose of completing our education in manufactures, then we shall be ready to do what England at last has done—to throw down all the barriers, and invite the world to compete with us in the application of industry and skill to any enterprise designed to satisfy the wants of man.

With us internal development and internal commerce are the great sources of national prosperity. Foreign commerce has its place, but it is merely subsidiary. Free trade would relegate our manufactures to agriculture and give foreign countries a monopoly and profit of labor in its higher forms. The history of our country is that those periods when we have approached nearest to free trade there has invariably been industrial stagnation and commercial disaster.

We read in a Democratic paper that there never was any wrongful management or any improper handling of public funds while their party controlled the Government. Ikeane of their ex-officials, Gen. John F. Miller, for instance, would only inform the public circumstantially how they managed to make forty or fifty thousand dollars in two or three years, out of Indian Agencies and the like, where the salary was but fifteen hundred dollars, the said public would be able to judge for itself whether the proceeding was honest enough to justify excessive admiration.

The Memphis Appeal, a leading Democratic organ of the South, said not long ago:

> When we assert that the constitutional amendments, except the thirteenth, are odious, and will be rescinded whenever a convention of the States is held where a Democratic power in the Government may render the consummation possible, we tell the simple unvarnished truth. * * * We ask for the lawful repeal of unlawful mockeries of constitutional law.

In this statement, beyond question, the average sentiment of the Democratic party is expressed. It is the sentiment of Oregon Democracy exactly.

In all our principal cities, New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Chicago, Cincinnati, etc., small-pox is spreading with a rapidity unknown heretofore and really frightful. It is likely to appear at any time in San Francisco, whence its transmission here would be very probable, if not certain. It is well enough, in view of its unusual prevalence in Eastern cities and its rapid movement from place to place, to use the established precautions against it. It is better to vaccinate now than to wait till the contagion appears.

The Bulletin the other day had something about Tappertit Titmouse. This is mixing Barnaby Rudge and Ten Thousand a Year in a way that is slightly confusing. So the Statesman yesterday took occasion to refer the Herald to Shakespeare, to learn that "men steal the livery of Heaven to serve the devil in." Now Shakespeare enjoys the honor of having enough good things attributed to him already. Will our friend of the Statesman give Pollok credit for this one?

The East Portland Era thinks that the way affairs are carried on under Republican National Administration is enough to "make angels weep." Fallen angels, probably. It is noticeable, too, that it makes Democrats howl.

Passenger trains were to commence running regularly on the North Pacific Railroad from Kalama to Pumphrey's—twenty-five miles—on Wednesday last.

Sleep Enough.

Doctors of medicine are either growing complacent or sensible. A great many of them have concluded that it is better to become allies of nature than to fight her and repel all her kindly aid. Perhaps the physicians were always wise (they always looked wise,) and only yielded to popular prejudice in their Sangrado practice and their rigorous counsel. We have all been taught there is merit in wasting as few hours as possible in sleep, and that early rising is one of the cardinal virtues—admitting for the Protestant moment that cardinals have virtues. We have all been educated to believe that the time given to the bed is lost, and that we gain all the hours we steal from it. Children have been taught that prompt rising in the morning is a beautiful thing.

I am not sorry, therefore, that one of the medical faculty, Dr. Hall, has had the good sense to tell the world that children under the age of eighteen, and old and feeble people (and he might as well have said everybody,) need ten hours' sleep, and that bouncing suddenly out of bed in the morning is as hurtful as it is disagreeable; that fifteen or twenty minutes spent in gradually waking up, stretching the limbs, and letting the blood slowly resume its wonted circulation, is time well spent. For the sudden sending of the blood to the heart is a severe shock, and the person who gets up in this hasty and reckless manner is certain to be drowsy by midday, unless he or she is an editor or a belle, and does not get up till afternoon. I concur in this—in fact, I always knew that it was true, and think, further, that pulling anybody out of bed ought to be a State's prison offence, and doubt not that conviction for it could be had before any of our ordinary sleepy juries—if they were awake enough to hear the evidence.

Many people seem to think that it is unbecoming to sleep much anywhere, except in church and at evening lectures. They speak of it as a merit that they do with so few hours in sleep at home. This is one reason why there are so many stupid people in society—admitting for the argument that there are so many they get up too soon or too suddenly, and so are never fairly awake all through. What seems to be stupidity is really want of sleep. A good many of the sermons, and now and then an editorial, are written in this state of mind; and even fashionable people go gaping around, making yawning calls upon acquaintances who ought to be in bed, and who wish the callers were.

The world is all astray about this matter of sleep, led away by nursery couplets about early to rise, and the examples of Napoleon, Peter the Great, and other military heroes, who are reported to have been satisfied with an hour or two sleep snatched from the twenty-four, taken on a plank, while their half-dozen scribbling secretaries were not allowed to sleep at all. We all know what became of Napoleon. Even Mr. Abbott cannot make it appear that he had much more than a respectable Ruler of the universe. These sleepless people have made most of the mischief in the world. Catherine de Medicis was, we believe, a light sleeper. George Washington, on the contrary, took his time, waked up the Father of his Country by degrees, got out of bed with deliberation, and dressed himself with thoughtful slowness. What a ridiculous idea it would be to think of that great man as bouncing out of bed at the first bell and dressing himself as if there was a fire next door.

The instinct of children against early and especially sudden rising is well founded; and it is pleasant to have the learned faculty confirm a long and growing conviction that it is not a sin to lie in bed till the second bell rings. It is the experience of the majority of people that the most delicious moments of the whole day are those when they ought to get up but do not.

Hereafter let them linger in this delightful borderland with a quiet conscience. Nature is about to be vindicated by the scientists. If the whole of life could be like that brief interval between half awaking and getting out into the cold world—that rare space of time when duty calls so faintly that there is a sweet delight in letting it call again before consolence is aroused at all—one might like to revise the hymn book, and live always. We have been now for several thousand years going to the ant and getting away from the sluggard to that degree that we have developed a very nervous condition, to say nothing of being defrauded of our rights, and of the legitimate and healthy luxury of sleeping long and waking up slowly, as plants do; no doubt many of the nervous diseases that are attributed to stock gambling, tobacco, and unrequited love, are due to want of sleep, from childhood up.

It is not an idle fancy that we moderns do not sleep enough. It is perhaps right to shoot soldiers, who are hired for that purpose, for sleeping at their posts. It disciplines them, but it might be better to relieve guard oftener and send them to bed. Yet civilians generally ought to be lectured for sleeping too little. All the passages in school books should be stricken out, and there should be verses promising a moderate competence as the reward of sleeping enough and coming out of sleep by degrees. In old times perhaps it did not matter so much, when the world was less busy, and there was less strain upon the faculties during the waking hours. But every one can see now that the world is red hot with money-getting and vast enterprises and politics and ritualism, and all sorts of rights, patent, and some that are not so patent, and a feverish literature; and in order to bear the wear and carry the load of it, a man needs to sleep more hours than he did when he only rose to eat and drink, and hunt the wild boar, and slay a few of his neighbors before an early dinner. But we do not sleep as much as the former generations did who had less to do. We are becoming more and more wakeful; so that we cannot sleep soundly in the season we give to rest. It is a nervous wakefulness, however, and not the full vigor of all the powers, which should result from proper rest of the system. No one can be at his best in any hour unless he has given as many hours to solid sleep as his system requires. The demands of business and the exactions of society keep most of us out of bed unmercifully, and in time we get jadedly need to the unnatural life, and take credit to ourselves that we can do with the fewest hours of sleep. It is a great mistake. There have been great men who were able to accomplish a great amount of work with little sleep, but we may be sure that, if we want to be great men, or, what is more important in this day, great women, we shall reach the goal soonest by being good sleepers. That was an honorable epitaph on the Dutchman's tombstone: "He was a gut sleeper." It will not be said of many of this nervous, excited generation.

It is well, however, to plead for the children. Let it be understood that it is no merit in a child to pop out of bed instantly upon the stroke of the bell, like a surprised and obfuscated jack-in-the-box. And give everybody time to wake up decently and in order. And let all the people say blessed is the medical man who preaches the gospel of morning "cat-naps."—New York Independent.

Medical examination should not be a bugbear to any sensible man. "Know thyself" is a sound maxim, whether the applicant be sound or otherwise.

FRIDAY MORNING, JANUARY 12, 1872.

CITY.

BOARD OF PRISONERS.—Something has been said here lately about the cost of boarding the city prisoners. The Chief of Police gets a dollar a day for each prisoner, which figures up profits pretty well—in a small way; it is true, but, nevertheless, it is a good job to have, as the price must be fully half or more clear gain, even for the board of a steady prisoner. When we take account of the obstructive days, the job will appear to even better advantage. There might, perhaps, be a better way to do this thing, and we suggest to our City Council that the Victoria plan might be better, or, at least, cheaper. At Victoria they advertise for, and receive sealed proposals, to furnish such articles of food and fuel as are necessary to be used in the jail, and each prisoner is supplied with regular daily rations. Here are the articles, for instance, which are advertised for, use this year: Tea, coffee, brown sugar, soap, salt, pepper, bread, beef, vegetables, potatoes—all to be furnished per pound price, and cost per ton. Suppose we were to try this plan and place the purchases under the supervision of the Police Judge, or the Board of Police Commissioners, and employ a cook by the month to prepare and serve out the rations, does anybody believe it would cost one dollar a day to feed each prisoner? At the present, we are paying full hotel prices for the board of prisoners. Would it not be worth while to try another method when the city moves into its new jail?

CLATSOP CIRCUIT COURT.—We have the following abstract of proceedings of the Circuit Court for Clatsop county for the term held the present week, Judge Upton presiding:

Jan. 8th—Geo. H. Durham appointed Prosecuting Attorney for the term.

Jan. 9th—Lloyd Brooke vs Jas. Taylor et al; suit to set aside a deed; demurrer to complaint sustained; and cause continued. Strong for plaintiff; W. Lair Hill for defendant Taylor; Elliott for other defendants.

Jan. 10th—Olney's Executors vs W. B. Ross; Sheriff's sale confirmed. Hill for plaintiff.

Olney's Executors vs Alvira Paymond; same. E. E. Spedden vs Olney's Executors; two actions for money, consolidated by order of the Court; jury failed to agree, and cause continued. Whalley for plaintiff and Hill for defendants.

Bolters vs Bolters; suit for divorce; continued. McEwan for plaintiff; Durham for State.

The Court adjourned for the term.

ANOTHER HOUSE ROBBERY.—Again, where are the Metropolitan Police? Wednesday night, thieves entered the residence of Rev. Dr. Lindsley and carried off a lot of silver ware, a sack of flour, an uncut ham, a box of candles, etc. They effected an entrance into the kitchen through the wood shed by forcing off the catch of a rim lock. Getting what booty they thought best to carry off, they went out by the same way. In the wood pile they dropped some silver spoons. The value of the silver ware carried off was about one hundred dollars. This thing of going through houses, storerooms and cellars, is getting to be monotonously common.

THE OUTLOOK ON THE COLUMBIA.—There is no notable change in the condition of the ice gorge, opposite and below Vancouver. The telegraph informs us that at the Cascades yesterday morning the thermometer stood at 28°, and that five inches of snow had fallen during the preceding night. The thermometer yesterday morning was at 30°, and the river was full of slush ice. A rain storm set in Wednesday night in the Walla Walla valley. It would seem that nothing but a Chinook wind can unlock the Columbia.

IT DIDN'T WORK.—Yesterday morning a couple of hombres were presented to the Police Judge upon a charge of distorderly conduct—breaking the windows of a China house. Upon being brought into Court, they avowed their object to be to get into the county jail till spring. The Judge, however, sentenced them to fifteen days each in the city jail, with instructions to have them worked in the street gang. Another case of "the best laid plans of men and mice," etc.

A GOOD INDIAN.—An Indian named Jim got drunk on Oregon City whisky the other night, went home, cut his wife up with a hatchet, beat the earth with his baby, and then killed another Klokah, who was impudent enough to interfere. Jim was captured, shot in the arm, and put in the jail, but he busted out, and at last accounts was still a free child of the forest. It is not stated whether an attempt was made to pray with him.

BODY FOUND.—On Wednesday afternoon the dead body of a man was found floating in the Columbia a few miles below the mouth of the Willamette. There was nothing on or about the body to indicate who the deceased was, except that he appeared to have been a sailor. The remains were brought to shore and decently buried.

"OVERLAND TO PUGET SOUND."—Our item yesterday under this head was written under the impression that there was no stage travel at all between Montinello and Olympia. Later intelligence from Mr. Cogan informs us that passengers can go through on time, either by stage or on horseback.

GLORY.—There is news by telegram from Oakland that a through letter mail is on the way which will arrive to-day, and a paper mail to arrive to-morrow. The two together would be too much glory for one day, and we suppose that is why an overruling Providence has separated them.

NEARLY DROWNED.—A man named Kelly fell from one of the wharves yesterday morning into the river while in a state of intoxication. Fortunately, he got hold of a pile and held on till a couple of policemen, who heard his cries, came to the rescue and fished him out.

CITY ASSESSMENTS.—The Auditor's notice in relation to city assessments ordered by the City Council on Wednesday evening, appears in this morning's issue. As will be seen no application for a reduction of assessments will be received after the 15th inst.

RAILROAD INSPECTION.—The Commissioners appointed on behalf of the United States to examine the Oregon and California Railroad, went up yesterday morning to inspect the last twenty miles constructed.

THE STEAMERS.—The delay in the arrival of the steamers will undoubtedly cause a postponement in the date of sailing. It is not now probable that any of them will go at the times heretofore advertised.

DEATH AT THE ASYLUM.—A patient, an old negress who was sent to the Insane Asylum from Salem, died there Wednesday night. She was very old.

DEATH AT VANCOUVER.—Miss Eliza McCarty, daughter of Rev. John McCarty, chaplain U. S. A., died at Vancouver, yesterday.

OFFICIAL VISIT.—Gov. Grover visited the Insane Asylum on Tuesday, officially.

EAST PORTLAND MATTERS.

[From the Ed.]

The gravel train has again commenced work on Second street; since the weather moderated.

A man trying to walk on the trestle work of the railroad, in this city, fell and had his foot considerably injured.

Workmen are now completing work on the different streets by planking over the unfinished portions, mentioned by us before, J street being the last completed.

The number of idle men thrown out of work by the stopping of work on the railroad on account of the cold weather, is decreasing, and but few now complain of having nothing to do.

Our school houses are full of pupils, and cannot accommodate any more. Owing to this fact there is considerable talk of building another, or enlarging the present ones. Let something be done one way or the other.

On Thursday the City Trustees met and audited and ordered paid bills amounting in the aggregate to $900 47.

The project of constructing a plank walk along the track of the Oregon and California Railroad is being agitated. The company and the Era are both opposed to it and it probably won't be done.

OFFICE JUST RECEIVED.—Gilt Parlor Furniture! Easy Chairs in great variety; Bonnet Stands, Card Receivers, Wall Brackets, Finished in Gilt, Walnut, Ebony, Wax and Mahogany. Call and see the Woven Wire Mattress at HURGREN & SHINDLER'S.

Work of every description in the house furnishing line will be done at short notice to the best of satisfaction.

PAUL RICHTER.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

PERSONAL, LOCAL AND GENERAL.

[From the Advocate.]

A society similar to the Young Men's Christian Association will be organized in Corvallis.

Bishop Morris, of the Protestant Episcopal Church, will return home some time during the present month. The spirit and labors of this man of God are models for all ministers who would be successful in building up the cause of Christ.

Dr. W. L. Harris, Secretary of the Missionary Society, says the distribution of $688,888 has been made for the support of our missions for the year 1872. Of the above amount $2,500 has been assigned to the several districts, stations and circuits as may seem just.

Dr. Atkinson, pastor of the First Congregational Church of this city, is still absent in the East. We hear of him at different points advocating zealously the cause of education, Home Missions, etc., as connected with the interests of that church on this coast.

We hear from Salem that Brother Turner's quarterly meeting on Saturday and Sunday for South Salem was well attended and considerable interest manifested. Brother Woodward, Presiding Elder, was in attendance, although not very well. Quite a revival is going on in the Evangelical Church at Salem.

The Hillsboro new M. E. Church is estimated to have cost about $3,000. The unpaid debt at dedication was $600; estimated cost of completing gallery, fencing, sidewalking, etc., $200; available subscription, $164; amount necessary to raise, $606. The audience cheerfully responded to the call made upon their liberality by contributing the sum of $780.

The Statesman gives the following report of the M. E. Sunday School of Salem for 1871: Superintendent, J. L. Royal; Assistant Superintendents, C. E. Burrows and Mrs. L. M. Nickerson; Treasurer, Miss Gertrude E. Moores; Librarian, William Gray; Secretary, A. L. Nicklin; Chorister, M. L. Chamberlin; Organist, Miss Gertrude E. Moores. Whole number of scholars in attendance during the year, 11,900; average, 225; largest attendance, 350; smallest, 175; average number of teachers, 25; number of volumes in the library, 427.

The annual report of the Taylor street M. E. Sunday School for 1871 gives an average attendance, including concerts, of 302; average attendance, exclusive of concerts, 204; average attendance of infant class, 53; average attendance of officers and teachers, 35; number of scholars enrolled during the year, ——, whole school, about 350; number enrolled in infant class, 170. Teachers present every Sunday during the year: Mrs. J. F. DeVore, I. M. Sparrow, E. J. Northrup, Miss I. M. Anderson and W. S. Fletcher. There was but one scholar present every Sunday during the year—Arabella Sutherland.

AMUSEMENTS.

LECTURE.—There was a pretty good audience out last night at Nonpareil Hall to hear Mrs. Dunlway lecture.

SKATING.—The regular amusements go on all the more lively for the late sensations. The habitues of the place are preparing for another burlesque performance.

ORO FINO THEATER.—The brilliant, historic French drama of "Narcisse, the Vagabond," was produced last evening for the first time in this city. The house was full, almost crowded. The play is one of those showy, brilliantly dressed, piquant and picturesque productions which French authors and the French people delight in. Narcisse is a man deserted by an ambitious wife who, by her beauty and intrigue, becomes the mistress of the French King and aspires to usurp the place of the Queen. Her deserted husband, ruined by her perfidy, becomes a vagabond, but never ceases his search for his faithless wife. He is a philosopher, a wit, a cynic, a fool, a misanthrope by turns, and sometimes nearly all those characters in one. Through his singularity of traits he attracts the attention of people attached to the Court, and is introduced to the profligate society around the throne. Here he discovers his wife; they rush into each others arms, but in the same moment he discovers her to be an infamous character, whose reputation he, with all the French people, detested, the Marquise de Pompadour; and with this discovery he repulses her with scorn and curses. At the same moment she learns from the Prime Minister, a lover whom she had scorned, that she was discarded by the King and banished the kingdom. She falls in a swoon and dies of a broken heart, and a moment later Narcisse follows her example. The scene is peculiarly affecting, and at the end there is a beautiful and striking tableau. Mr. Waldron achieved new popularity by this portrayal. He was called out at the end of each act. The evening's entertainment ended with the popular little comedy of Perfection, in which Miss Annie Pixley, Mr. Fulford, Mr. Robinson, Mr. Barry and Miss Minnie were greatly applauded. The same bill will be presented to night. We think it really the best of the season.

The Agents of the New England Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Boston, Mass., (make no tempting promises) to induce a man to insure, "and then squeeze him because they can. But talk Insurance for the protection it gives—as does Joseph Middlemiss, Supt. of Agencies for the Pacific Coast, 8 Front st, Central Block—he talks Endowments for the safe, not speculative investment they offer, coupled with the security of a life policy. Mr. Middlemiss makes no promises direct or implied, beyond this—The New England will annually return to each policy holder his exact proportion of the surplus after settling the business of each year. See the Agents of this Company, hunt them up. The economy of management and its experience for above one quarter of a century, and the security of the State Law of Massachusetts, make it the most advantageous Company to transact business with. The Supt. of Agencies, 8 Front st, in this city, courts the acquaintance of every insurable man, to instruct him gratis on this all important question of insurance. Get a circular.

THE NEW ENGLAND MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY was incorporated in 1835, and is therefore the oldest purely Mutual Life Insurance Company in the United States; it has cash assets of over $10,000,000, and is the only Company on the Pacific Coast governed by the Massachusetts Non-Forfeiture Law, offering all the advantages of age and prudent management, its average expenses being lower than any other Company in the United States. It also offers protection against forfeiture by virtue of the Massachusetts Non-Forfeiture Law, which is a feature of great importance, and should be carefully considered by all persons seeking insurance. Office,

JOSEPH MIDDLEMISS,
Supt. of Agencies

TESTIMONIALS.

We the undersigned having been the recipients of the services of Mrs. M. C. White in teaching the science of Music on the Pianoforte, take pleasure in giving a hearty Testimonial that we have employed her in our families as a teacher of her "New Method of Instruction," and that it has proven superior to any method we have ever known. And that although the first cost may be a little greater than some others, we believe it to be in the aggregate much cheaper, besides being a great economy in point of time. We therefore, take pleasure in recommending her to the patronage of all who may be desirous of obtaining a musical education, as a very superior instructor.

To those who desire to know more about it before increasing any expense, we give a cordial invitation to call at our house and interview her pupils.

For reference see advertisement.

EAST PORTLAND, Jan. 3, 1872.

Mrs. M. C. WHITE—Respected Madam: Having heard of your System of teaching the Pianoforte, known as the Robins' American Method, and having been present a few days since, at the exercises of one of your pupils, Miss Lane, of East Portland, I was much surprised and exceedingly gratified, at the perfect performance of the most difficult pieces, (such as Gottschalk's Dango, etc.) and this after the short term of six months tuition.

Allow me to express my approbation of your System of your Instruction, and with my best wishes for your success allow me to subscribe myself,

Yours Respectfully,
TH. PARROT, Prof. of Music,
and Leader of the East Portland Band.

Winter-Proof Systems.

Thick boots and flannels are necessary at this season, but the human frame requires something more than these to render it winter-proof. The inner man, as well as the outer surfaces of the body, must be protected. The raw, moist, chilly winds which prevail at this season transpierce the warmest clothing, and tend at last to affect the health unfavorably, both through the pores and the respiratory organs. The surest way to avert the evil is to strengthen the internal machine, and thus enable it to repel the devitalizing influence of unwholesome weather. Enrich the blood, gently stimulate the circulation, regulate the bowels, invigorate the stomach, tone the liver, and brace the nerves with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and no condition of the atmosphere, however inclement, no variation of the barometer or thermometer, however sudden, will have power to disorder the system thus fortified in advance, and put in perfect working order. Damp and cold, acting upon a sensitive or feeble organization, may produce consumption, diptheria, neuralgia, rheumatism, dyspepsia, liver complaint, low nervous fever, or intermittent fever; the importance of rendering the system impervious to these two destructive elements is therefore obvious. Persons in delicate health, or who are at all liable to be injuriously affected by atmospheric influences, should take the Bitters daily throughout the winter and spring. In this way dangerous diseases may be warded off, and a condition of perfect health preserved by individuals of comparatively feeble physique, while those more robust, who scoff at precautions, are suffering the penalty of their recklessness in hospitals and sick rooms.

Gold in New York—

Portland Legal Tender quotations 90½@ buying; 91½@ selling.

Exchange on San Francisco, ½@¾ pr. prem.; on New York, 1½@1¾ pr. prem. Telegraphic transfers on New York, 1¼@1¾ pr. prem.

Our gold quotations only cover last advices received, Dec. 30th, 1871. It is impossible to tell with any degree of certainty what the price now is, so that all transactions based upon the above quotations are merely based on the price of gold Dec. 30th.

Our local finances exhibit no new features since our last review. The supply of available funds remains the same. The call for short loans is fair. Term loans are in request, with the rates of discount a shade easier. Short loans are negotiated at the banks at 1 per cent. per month discount. Call loans can be negotiated for less. Term loans are negotiable at from 10 to 12 per cent. discount per annum. Remittances from the interior are more free as the amount of coin sent forward to move crops justified merchants in believing would be the case, consequently the calls on the interior will be very urgent during this and coming month. Very general complaint is made by retail dealers in the city that last month's collections show a marked falling off. This complaint is not confined to one branch, but extends to all branches of the retail trade.

The bark Annette was towed by the Hermione to Oak Point to-day, where she will receive a cargo of Lumber for San Francisco.

The bark Alden Besse's charter is to China and back. Her return cargo will consist of China produce.

The two vessels reported off the Bar on Monday had not crossed up to this morning. We are unable to give their names.

Business of all kinds since the first has been fair, of which many of our merchants took advantage and made up their annual statements. Stocks of all kinds, notwithstanding the free arrivals within the past two weeks, are light. Heavy orders from our merchants will go forward for filling next month. Several have representatives East making purchases for the spring and summer trade. The agricultural news have made, so we are informed, excellent arrangements for renewed shipments on a more extensive scale this season. But prices are expected, owing to the very general advance in raw materials, to rule higher than any previous year. Shipments will be made direct from Europe with more liberality than last year. Shipments from China and Hong Kong will be increased. This year it is claimed our merchants enter the new year under better auspices than any previous year for obtaining dry and every advantage to be obtained in purchasing their goods.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW.

Produce Market.

BREAD—Quotable, Seas., 4c; Picnic, 7½c; Butter, Fancy, 15c, 12½c; Ordinary, 11½c; Crackers, 11½c; Rice, 6½c.

BEEF—Medium, 6½c; Navy, 6½c.

COAL—For the week under review, in absence of telegraphic or mail advices, the market has been unusually languid, up to yesterday, when, as we close up through telegraphic advices, a slight reaction is reported in Liverpool at 22s 3d on January 3d, and also containing fuller particulars of the flood in California, causing apprehension in some quarters that considerable quantities had been destroyed by the flood, gave the market a better tone, but with no improvement to note, as shippers are unwilling to operate at any figure until more definite advices are received by the steamer City of Para, now fully due, or by telegraph when making Cape Horn. The cause of the advance in England is stated by telegraph to be in consequence of the home supply being ascertained to be short of former estimates, 200,000 tons instead of 500,000 tons—10,000,000 bushels. The latest telegraphic advices from San Francisco, Jan. 3d, quoted sales at £1 2s@2 3d, with [illegible] still [illegible] the past week we have heard of two small sales being effected at 22s 6d per ton, cash, delivered at Hillsboro, and the other delivered here at $22 per ton, cash; neither of these purchases amounting to over 500 cantals. At present writing both holders and shippers are offish, consequently nothing definite can be stated, but we could not get less than $22 per ton, but we hopes were forced to enter the market they would have to pay from $2 25 to $3 25 per ton.

FLOUR—The market, at the close of the week under review, presents a firmer tone, in sympathy with the [illegible] advices received from San Francisco which report [illegible] prospects for export for China and [illegible] America. So far as we are able to learn, from both publications and reports received from the leading brands of [illegible] manufactured at and in San Francisco as a [illegible] for the season, the stocks in consumers hands are not large for the season of the year, which is proved to a great extent by millers being able to run their mills when they choose so to do, as they are capable of making [illegible] per month. The receipts from the interior since the first of the month have been liberal, with the majority of the [illegible] consigned to San Francisco to the market. The [illegible] for shipment since the 1st inst. amount to 5,972 bbls. This is the first shipment since the beginning of the year. We note [illegible] for extra of standard brands at $7 [illegible] bbl, [illegible] country brands, $6 50@6 75; superfine and cutting [illegible] $5 [illegible]; [illegible] is large but the demand is limited to small [illegible] for our quotations.

OATS—Owing to the very low prices ruling in San Francisco and the facilities for exportation hence, a shipment could not be placed on the market except at very low figures. The stock on hand [illegible] fully 8,000 sacks, with a very light demand. We quote nominally, at $1 [illegible] per cental.

BARLEY—Requirements for the present are supplied by the arrival of the bark Peerless from [illegible] Hyogo, with [illegible] 2,932 [illegible] 30 [illegible] cargo.
